

I was hiking with my camera in Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado when I came upon the tracks that this big bull moose left. I tracked him down and took a couple of pictures. I was way too close for safety as it was—about 35 yards. Don't try this at home. Moose are extremely large and very dangerous. This is the same animal from tp1a and the hunting page.

Mike

All pictures currently on this site are here just to get the site going. Your recent pictures will replace them as you send them in.